

Rebecca Jones, Founder and Chief Executive Officer of SafeworkCM, will transition to the position of Chair on SafeworkCM's Board of Directors, and current President, Domingo Camarano, will assume the titles of both President and CEO, effective immediately. This planned evolution has been in the works for two years and will provide collaborative executive leadership with a focus on growth and service diversity.

Rebecca founded SafeworkCM in 1992, and has grown the company from a small, women-owned transportation safety and project management company to a multi-million-dollar, small company that now operates as a prime contractor, sourcing key construction management services across Transportation, Education, Municipal, Disaster Recovery, and Federal market sectors.

"The search for my successor began several years ago. When I met Domingo, I recognized that he was the right person, at the right time, to help catapult the company into its next phase of growth and success." His entrepreneurial business acumen and deep-seeded dedication to excellence will take SafeworkCM to new heights."

Rebecca Jones, Chair

SafeworkCM will celebrate its 30th anniversary in 2022. With Camarano as President and CEO, and Jones as Chair, the company is poised to grow exponentially into several targeted market sectors and triple in size in the next five to seven years.

"I am proud to be named President and CEO of such an extraordinary and progressive company, Domingo stated. The solid foundation and culture that Rebecca has built has helped us to springboard into other markets and grow exponentially in a very short period."

"I am thrilled to take on this new role knowing we will continue to add to the tremendous reputation and success that Rebecca has established in our industry."
