About CMAA

The Construction Management Association of America is an industry association dedicated to the practice of professional construction management. CMAA represents more than 16,000 members including federal/state/local government and private sector owners, construction consultants, technology suppliers, academia, and legal organizations all with a common goal: to improve our nation's infrastructure.

Established in 1982, CMAA sets the standard for managing capital construction projects.

CMAA's Mission is to promote the profession of construction management and the use of qualified construction managers on projects and programs. Our Vision is that all owners will realize project and program success by using professionally qualified construction managers.

CMAA was formed in 1982 to establish standards for managing construction projects. Construction management is rooted in traditional project management practices and requires a unique body of skills and professional knowledge to perform successfully. One of CMAA's goals is to help the construction management profession further develop its own unique identity within the Architecture/Engineering/Construction industry.

CMAA has nearly 16,000 members which include individual CM practitioners, corporate members, and construction owners in the public and private sectors, along with academic and associate members. CMAA also has 29 regional chapters and student chapters at colleges and universities
